Community Action

Tom Moore and Tom Dumez have teamed up to find ways for us to serve those in our community. Here are some of the organizations we partner with:

Love, INC. loveinthenameofchrist.org

This organization provides too many services to list, however there are many good opportunities to serve at the Hudsonville site.

West Michigan Food Bank feedingamericawestmichigan.org

Serves as a central collection site for many local food pantries. Their mission is to provide discounted food to those who need it most.

Holland Rescue Mission hollandrescue.org

Provides services for homeless individuals and families such as food, shelter, clothing, personal case management, financial accountability, Bible studies, employment assistance, parenting and children's programs.

Hand2Hand Ministries hand2handbackpack.org

Partners with local churches and strives to ensure that no school age child in the Jenison/Hudsonville area goes hungry over the weekend if their families cannot afford food.

Lakeshore Habitat for Humanity lakeshorehabitat.org

Helps income-challenged families realize the dream of home ownership. The process is very reliant on volunteer labor and participation by the family themselves.

Unity Build 2012

Lakeshore Habitat for Humanity and Love INC are partnering for fundraising and coordination as they begin their first ever HUDSONVILLE/JENISON unity build! A single mom with four kids (one with very special needs) who lives in a run down modular home has been selected to receive the house. Funding, property and volunteers are being recruited. Watch this space for more information. This could be a great serving opportunity.

Valentines Day is one of those "Hallmark Holidays" I tend to rush past. I love my wife and kids and it's never a bad thing to buy flowers and or candy to give away, but it doesn't quite rank up there with Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving or the Fourth of July as "rearrange your schedule" priorities.

Well, maybe I need to re-think that a little. God had the Apostle Paul invest a whole chapter in 1 Corinthians 13 describing what love looks like. Then of course the whole "Story" is about God's passionate desire to have us Prodigal sons and daughters come home because he loves us so much He can't stand to think of us being away from Him for all eternity.

Then there are the "One Another" passages in Scripture that tell us to love, serve, honor, be truthful with, rejoice with, weep with, come alongside, pray for, be generous toward and so on . . . toward "One Another". Don't those sound suspiciously like what love is like?

How can we turn February into a real "Month of Love"?

- Invite a new church friend over for a meal or out for a cup of coffee.
- Offer to babysit for one of the young couples we have so many of. I remember when our kids were young Lee and I could only afford one or two "date nights" a year and then only if someone offered to watch our kids.
- Take a meal to one of our new mothers. Isn't it GREAT to see so many babies in our nursery? Most new moms would love some cooking help anytime you want to offer it.
- Take a meal to one of our retirees. My mom always said it was hard cooking for just one or two people. Some of our retirees would love a fresh recipe they didn't have to prepare and even a little company while they share it.
- Send a thank you note to someone who has "blessed" you this year.
- Tell God how grateful you are for His love. Daily.

Hmmm. Maybe Hallmark had a good idea after all.

You are loved,
Steve

"Milestones Matter"

Think of some of the milestones we go through as parents. Births - First day of school - 16th birthday - Graduation - Wedding day - First grandchild - Some parents even get to celebrate their children's retirement parties!

Your children go through milestones as well. These milestones can prove to be tricky. At best, milestone moments for children are a time of transition. Frequently, milestones are a mix of changes and confusion.

Jenison Christian Church believes that milestones matter. Our children's and youth ministries offer regular resources for parents to help your children transition through milestones. We have two upcoming events for parents in which you will want to take part.

If you have a child in 6th-12th grade, you and your teens will want to be at a special event called Purity For Life on Sunday night, February 19 at the church building. We have booked a special guest speaker from Grand Rapids Right To Life who will talk about purity in all aspects of life. Following her talk, we will have a special time for parents to get resources about talking with your children about purity issues.

Also, we will be providing identical versions of our next Parent's Huddle on Saturday morning, March 17 and Sunday afternoon, March 18. The Huddle has proved to be a great resource for parents of all ages of children - not just for parents of elementary children, but helpful for parents of infants and parents of graduating seniors, and even for grandparents!

Thank you for letting us serve you!

Nate
